Dear Scott Wainwright,

A note to share my experience with Burt Subaru and Clear Bra Connections Inc. My wife and I purchased a new 2005 Legacy GT on January 26th. Everything went as expected because of the professionalism of George Gaskins, our sales representative. At the time of closing the deal we were introduced to your warranty agreements. It was brought to our attention about your Clear Bra application. I was very leery about the purchase of the clear bra because of lines showing, clear bra turning yellow and the cost. I decided to go ahead and have the clear bra applied.

That evening I decided to call around to other tinting vendors to obtain pricing on their clear bra. I found that it was cheaper somewhere else, so I called Burt Subaru back the next morning to cancel our contract for the clear bra agreement. I spoke with Shane in the finance department and he suggested that I speak with Scott (Clear Bra Connections) about my fears and concerns before I make a decision. Scott promptly called me back and addressed my concerns about the film. Scott went into great detail about the material, application of the clear bra and how other vendors use a chemical to apply the film that could ruin the paint on your car if not applied correctly. Scott's knowledge of his product made my decision a lot easier.

Scott immediately scheduled the car to be done the following day. The next day I decided to drive over to Burt's showroom to see how the installation was going. When I observed the car I commented to myself that they forgot to apply the clear bra on the hood. As I looked closer I noticed that it had been done and I could not even see it. I was so impressed with the application I could not believe my eyes. We would definitely recommend Clear Bra Connections Inc. to others. The old line that says: "You get what you pay for". This was truly a blessing in our case. It was a little more expensive than other vendors, but it was well worth the expense. It would of been a shame to let someone else do the job and end up with bad results. We were and still are impressed with Scott's craftsmanship. Hats off to Scott.

Sincerely,

Michael L Miller
